Presentation Day Reminders

What to Bring

- ☐ Laptop with presentation loaded (backup on USB drive)
- ☐ All team members present
- ☐ Handout or executive summary (optional)
- ☐ Enthusiasm and preparedness!

What to Submit (by presentation day)

- ☐ PowerPoint/PDF slides
- ☐ 2-page write-up
- ☐ Prompt log
- ☐ Data file or link
- ☐ Code file (.R or .Rmd)
- ☐ Team contribution statement

Timing Tips

- Aim for 10 minutes exactly
- Practice with a timer beforehand
- Have a plan if you finish early (extra examples ready)
- Know what to cut if running long
- Deduction: -5 points if >13 minutes or <8 minutes

Technical Setup

- Arrive 5 minutes early to test your laptop connection
- Have slides in multiple formats (PowerPoint, PDF)
- Test any videos or animations beforehand

- Have a backup plan if technology fails

Presentation Order Guidelines

Each team will: 1. Set up (during previous Q&A, ~1 minute) 2. Present (10 minutes) 3. Answer questions (2 minutes) 4. Transition to next team while questions are being asked

Evaluation

Your presentation will be evaluated on: - Organization (3 pts) - Logical flow, clear structure - Time Management (2 pts) - Within 10-12 minutes - Engagement (3 pts) - Professional delivery, equal participation - Visual Aids (2 pts) - Clear, professional slides

Plus your content (question, method, AI comparison, interpretation, reproducibility) for remaining 90 points.

Peer Feedback (Optional)

During presentations, you may be asked to provide brief peer feedback: - One thing the team did particularly well - One constructive suggestion

This helps everyone learn and is not used for grading.

Q&A Tips

Be prepared to answer: - “Why did you choose this statistical method?” - “How did the two AIs differ in their approach?” - “What would you do differently next time?” - “How did you verify the AI’s statistical advice?” - “What was the most challenging part?” - “What practical implications do your results have?”

Special Accommodations

If your team needs special accommodations (e.g., remote presentation, extended time due to disability), please contact the instructor by Week 8.

Contact for Questions

Good luck with your presentations!

Remember: This project is about learning. Show us your process, including what didn't work. We want to see how you used AI to learn statistics, not just perfect results.
